A PRESIDENT IS
a Global Citizen

W&J enables you to travel the globe to pursue research, take courses, and complete internships—teaching you more about the world (and about yourself?) than you’d ever learn in a traditional classroom. You’ll graduate as a true global citizen prepared to adapt quickly to change, thrive in diverse environments, and succeed in your career.

W&J’s unique Magellan Project provides funding for student-designed research anywhere in the world.

From exploring coral reef restoration in Australia to volunteering at a medical clinic in Zambia, the Magellan project can lead you anywhere.

A PRESIDENT IS
Able to Work in a Diverse Community

W&J students have exceptionally varied interests, socioeconomic backgrounds, and political and ideological perspectives. This creates an intellectually rich and engaging campus environment where you’ll explore issues from all angles and prepare to work productively with others throughout your career.

A PRESIDENT IS Committed to Service and Leads with Integrity

W&J strives to graduate people of uncommon integrity—people who are prepared to contribute substantially to the world in which they live. W&J will provide you with the chance to make a positive impact locally, nationally, and globally. From medical mission work with Presidents Without Borders to volunteering at the Pittsburgh Coalition against Human Trafficking, you’ll have the opportunity to make a difference in the lives of others while learning firsthand about important global issues.

Each year, W&J students conduct over 20,000 hours of community service worldwide.

A PRESIDENT Makes Strong Connections with Influential People

The Alumni Mentor Program matches students with successful W&J graduates, who serve as both mentors and friends. Get valuable career advice over lunch with an award-winning film producer and director. Visit a footwear factory with Nike’s first chemist. Participate in a mock interview with a prominent business leader in Pittsburgh.

W&J brings leading-edge companies, thought leaders, and networking opportunities directly to students. You have access to special guests and representatives that recruit students on campus each year.

EXCEPTIONAL OUTCOMES

W&J students do more than prepare for careers—they become responsible leaders and lifelong learners who adapt and ascend in every profession. On average, our 6-month post-graduation survey indicates that 91 percent of graduates are either employed or continuing their education.

The nationally recognized Magellan Project provides funding and support for a wide range of student-designed independent research projects. Students are empowered to learn just about anywhere in the world—from Washington, D.C. and San Francisco to Cambodia, the Czech Republic, and Peru.

Project Examples:
- Nordic Model of Safety in Anesthesiology, Sweden
- Chocolate Empires of Europe, Switzerland, Belgium and Germany
- Studying sports psychology and business with English Premier League teams, England
- Great Barrier Reef Conservation and Sustainability Research Intern, Australia
